Your daughter enjoyed printmaking and the experimentation process, especially the revealing part. She loved creating different shades of pink with the roller and became more open to using mixed media to craft her pictures. She also learned the relationship between the strength needed for pressing and achieving an appealing outcome.

Printmaking Explorations: Underwater Wonders

SKILL-BASED LEARNING

"Printmaking Explorations: Underwater Wonders" celebrates the vibrant world beneath the sea. Children will design and create their own underwater scenes using printmaking techniques and mixed media to craft jellyfish. This activity fosters their imagination and storytelling abilities while enhancing their skills in visual expression and mixed media art.

Your daughter demonstrated great passion in the project. She sponge painted the deep blue sea background with well-developed spatial awareness, covering the backdrop effectively. She then used a roller to print big and small bubbles, enjoying the bubble effect on her backdrop. For the jellyfish, she drew dots for the eyes and chose different materials for the tentacles. She enjoyed the process and was pleased with her final creation.
